L. W. CHOBE STARTS WORK ON DESIGN FOR CITY FLOAT

Campaign to Secure Funds to Finance Glendale's Display Will Begin at Once

The appointing of committees to help outline the program for raising funds for the Glendale float in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, New Year's day, and to assist L. W. Chobe in building the float, featured the meeting held by the committee in the Chamber of Commerce room Tuesday afternoon.

L. W. Chobe, in charge of decorations, was instructed by Mrs. M. L. Tight, chairman of the committee in charge of the tournament float, to proceed with the work on the design and to name those whom he wished to assist him.

Mrs. L. W. Chobe was chosen by the committee members as chairman of the flower committee, and she will name others later on to assist her.

The matter of raising funds again came up for consideration and on motion it was decided for the committee composed of Mrs. M. L. Tight, V. M. Hollister and L. W. Chobe to appear before the city council at the next regular meeting to learn what amount could be expected from the municipality.

Support To Be Sought

The action taken by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting a few hours earlier in the afternoon was reported by Secretary James M. Rhoades, who stated that he would send out a number of letters today to the secretaries of the various civic, patriotic and fraternal organizations of the city to learn what support would be given by them.

A publicity committee was appointed, composed of J. G. Huntley, L. T. Rowley and James M. Rhoades, to formulate a publicity campaign to let every one know of the popular subscription method and to confer with both the Glendale Theatre and the T. D. & L. Theatre to see if some plan could be worked out for helping to increase the subscription funds.

The next meeting of the committee will be held in the new headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce, 150 South Brand boulevard, Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

The committee was very enthused with the work accomplished so far and felt confident that with the cooperation of the citizens of Glendale a prize-winning float could be realized to represent the city in the Tournament of Roses. In speaking of the response of several citizens, Secretary James M. Rhoades said:

"We are fortunate in getting some wonderful people in Glendale as citizens and they are joining the Chamber of Commerce, too. They are the class of people who co-operate, who are public-spirited, and who work for the good of the community, and we should be proud of them."

John Hobbs Is Guest of Honor, Masonic Meet

Over 300 members of the Masonic fraternity were present at the reception given last night at the meeting of Unity Lodge No. 368, F. & A. M., of which Henry P. Goodwin is master, in honor of John Hobbs, past master of Unity Lodge who has been appointed by the grand master of the state of California as inspector for the fifty-ninth district. This district comprises Glendale, Burbank, Eagle Rock, Van Nuys and San Fernando, officers and members of which lodges were present at the reception held last night in Masonic Temple.

The officers of the visiting lodges conferred the third degree during the business session last night, after which the members adjourned to the banquet room, where refreshments were served and speeches made by the visiting and local officers. The members of Unity Lodge No. 368 feel signally honored that a member of their lodge has been chosen as inspector for this district.

Driver Exonerated for Death of Boy

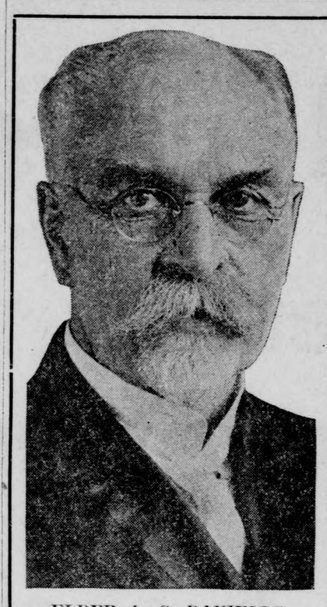
Lorne Norman Prescott, little schoolboy, who was fatally injured when run down by an automobile on San Fernando Road Monday evening, was the victim of an unavoidable accident, a coroner's jury decided this morning at the inquest held at the L. G. Scovern Undertaking parlors, 1000 South Brand boulevard.

This relieves G. W. Nolan of Venice, driver of the car, from facing a charge of manslaughter. He had been held on $5,000 bail. It was alleged by officers that a gallon demijohn of wine was found in the machine, but Mr. Nolan was not intoxicated and he was held for investigation only.

Mass Meeting Is Called for Next Monday Night

A mass meeting, it is announced, will be held in the high school auditorium next Monday night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the proposed high school bond issue and the two sites offered. The committee in charge extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Head of Adventist Church Visits Here on Inspection Tour



ELDER A. G. DANIELLS,
President of the Seventh-day Adventist General Conference, who has been in Glendale on a tour of inspection. His headquarters are in Washington, D. C.

Elder A. G. Daniells and W. T. Knox, president and treasurer of the Seventh-day Adventist General Conference, have been in Glendale on an inspection of the Pacific Union Conference work which has headquarters here. They also are visiting the schools and sanitariums in the southern and northern sections of the state.

Upon leaving here these leaders will return to Washington, D. C., where the headquarters of the denomination are located.

One of the principal things which brought them to the coast at present was to perfect arrangements for the General Conference session which is to be held in San Francisco, May 11-30, 1922. The city of San Francisco has donated for that purpose, the use of the Municipal Auditorium for one month. This large building with its many committee rooms, is well fitted for such a gathering.

From All Over World

To this General Conference, which is held every four years, will come delegates from all parts of the world. Europe will send about fifty, Asia will have twenty at least, and Africa eight or ten. Large numbers will come from South America and from every state in the Union. The sessions will be divided between business and devotional meetings. Officers for the coming four years will be chosen at this meeting.

Seventh-day Adventists have missionaries working in one hundred and twenty foreign fields, it is stated. One hundred and five languages are spoken by these missionaries, and their doctrines are printed in one hundred languages and dialects. This brings the Adventist faith accessible to 1,500,000,000 people, according to figures compiled by Elder W. F. Martin. Fifty sanitariums under denominational control are teaching people the gospel of health and temperance. The most noted speakers and workers of the denomination will be present and take part in this meeting.

C. C. Cooper, 302 North Central avenue, head of the First National bank and president of the Chamber of Commerce, arrived home yesterday after a business trip of six weeks spent in Denver, Colo., Cheyenne, Wyo., and Omaha and Lincoln, Neb

Business conditions in the sections visited by Mr. Cooper were not as thriving as in Southern California.

"I did not see anything like the building activity now going on in Glendale," said Mr. Cooper, "and conditions are not very encouraging in the middle west for an immediate recovery."

CHRISTIAN CIRCLE CLUB

The regular weekly meeting of the Christian Circle club was held last night in the Baptist church, with fifty-eight girls present. After dinner at 5:30 o'clock a short business meeting was held, Miss Nell Leaggett presiding. At that time the roll call was taken and it was found that there were twelve girls present from the Baptist church, eleven from the Christian and eleven from the Pacific avenue Methodist church, these three having the largest representation present. After the business meeting an interesting Bible study was given by Miss Maude Soper.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS CHOSEN TO SERVE ONE YEAR TERM

Six Elected in Balloting by Membership; Program of Work Is Outlined

Following is the result in the Chamber of Commerce election, the first six persons named being selected to serve as directors for one year:

D. L. Gregg	114
Roy L. Kent	103
Dan Campbell,	97
Peter L. Ferry	86
C. D. Lusby	85
A. R. Eastman	82
J. A. Newton	81
C. E. Kimlin	71
C. W. Ingledue	53
Owen Emery	52
Mabel L. Tight	48
S. C. Packer	44

The polls closed last night and A. R. Eastman, Mrs. M. L. Tight and C. E. Kimlin were the election committee making the report. Henry Purinton, student secretary, had charge of the ballot box.

Speaking of the election and the return of a large number of the directors, the first five being re-elected, James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber, considers it a vote of confidence for the present board. Briefly reviewing the work accomplished since reorganization last March, he said:

"Our program called for community co-operation. Through this body we have gotten various improvement associations actively working for Glendale at large and their own districts in particular.

Matter Under Way

"In the matter of school facilities a grammar school bond issue has been carried and we are now co-operating with the high school in obtaining a site.

"A survey has been made of a city-wide sewer system and the first unit has been built in Verdugo Woodlands while another unit for the business section now is under way.

"One hundred thousand dollars in bonds for additional water supply has been carried and $22,000 for a swimming pool and park.

"Several projects for tourist hotels are under way, a half dozen new industries have been assisted and $1200 spent by the Chamber in advertising, including the distribution of 5,000 booklets.

Independent Postoffice

"Most important of all, however, is the independent postoffice which was obtained through a citizens' petition circulated by the Chamber and the co-operation of every agency which we could draw upon. Now we are assured service from a local postmaster who will see that facilities are in keeping with the growth of the town.

"Another big accomplishment was the organization of the Citizens' Building corporation and the erection of a two-story building in which to house stores and the Chamber headquarters.

"The annual meeting of the directors will be held the first Tuesday in January and at that time I will submit a full report on the various activities which I am sure will show the officers to have been very attentive to the work assigned them."

GIVE NOVEL STUNTS AT TUESDAY CLUB SOCIAL SESSION

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett in Charge of Entertainment; Members 'Become Acquainted'

The first social meeting of the year of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson is president, was held yesterday afternoon at Masonic temple. Under the new schedule of meetings, it is planned that whenever there is a fifth Tuesday in the month that it be observed as a social afternoon. Mrs. H. E. Bartlett was in charge of the program.

Members of the club were arranged in groups throughout the hall according to alphabet, and each one was tagged with her name, in this way making it easy to get acquainted with old and new members. Later in the afternoon half of each group moved on to the next.

Each group contributed to the entertainment for the afternoon A number of the club members were called on by Mrs. Daniel Campbell to sing the national hymn of Siam. Later from that same group Mrs. H. K. Boyer was called upon to play several piano selections, including one of her own compositions.

Provide Clever Stunts

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery was in charge of the stunt provided by the group. Mrs. Della Johnson at the piano played "Turkey in the Straw," while Mrs. Montgomery came marching in the hall, followed by Mrs. W. P. MacMullin, Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. Alex Mitchell, Mrs. A. H. Lapham, Mrs. Chester Kling, Mrs. Homer Lockwood, Mrs. F. McCann and Mrs. A. P. McBoyle, all of whom were masked.

They wore bungalow aprons, on backwards, as were also their sunbonnets and false faces. When they had assembled at the front of the room they participated in an old-time square dance, called off by Mrs. Montgomery.

A unique stunt was provided by four of the women from another group, led by Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward. This was a charade enacting the word "negotiate." Mrs. C. M. Turck from another group told several interesting and amusing stories.

One of the most mirth provoking events of the afternoon was a Japanese prayer led by Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

Old Spelling Match

The afternoon's entertainment closed with an old-fashioned spelling match, of which Mrs. Lillian Dow and Mrs. R. W. Meeker were leaders, with the latter's side winning. She was presented with what appeared to be a glass of jelly, but upon opening the cover out jumped a green "snake."

Tea and cake were served by the members of the hospitality committee, of which Mrs. L. W. Sinclair is chairman.

Mrs. A. W. Williams, chairman of ways and means, announced the Christmas bazaar to be given by the club at Masonic temple December 7.

Those present, besides the host and hostess, were Cecil Wilson, Lee Payne, Newton McGillis, Paul Edmonds and Theodore Haig. Neil McIver, who was the sixth delegate from the group, was unable to be present at the affair.

Hunter Sr. Since receiving his discharge from the army two years ago Mr. Hunter has been located in the region of Taft and Maricopa, where he is employed by one of the large oil companies. He expects to return to Taft during the first part of next week.

EDDIE WINFIELD IS WINNER OF THIRD PLACE IN RACE

Local Man Takes No Chances With Wrecking His Car on Bakersfield Track

Eddie Winfield, Glendale's newest carburetor inventor and erstwhile amateur racing star, returned to this city Tuesday, after a four days' absence, during which time he had effected a successful invasion of Bakersfield. Said successful invasion included the winning of third place not to mention the $150 cash prize in Sunday's big twenty-five mile "All Ford" race which was staged in the Oil City.

Although third place is not as high as the local phenom had expected to finish, it is, nevertheless, an excellent showing when the true conditions regarding the event are known. According to a number of Glendale folk who witnessed the exciting affair, the track, which is a one-mile dirt oval, is probably the roughest in the state.

The description by Sam Durand Winfield's partner and mechanician gave a fairly accurate idea of the nature of the track when he stated that it was "nothing but a series of bumps and chuck holes with a generous supply of slippery mud scattered over for good measure."

Track Wrecks Machines

Durand's statement was borne out when it was announced that of the eighteen machines that entered the race on Sunday afternoon but seven were "able to navigate" Monday morning. Bad spills, nasty skids, locked brakes and death defying collisions were a few of the numerous thrills that were furnished the five thousand excited racing bugs. By the peculiar fortune of fate, however, none of the "hair raisers" resulted in even the slightest scratch or injury to any of the drivers.

Eddie's own alibi, and one which seems quite reasonable, centers around the fact that he didn't care to take chances of wrecking his mount for the sake of a few hundred dollars. Driving a more or less conservative race from the start, he finished but half a lap behind Eddie Myers in his Redlands Special, who was the first to receive the checkered flag.

The speed for the first three winners was given as slightly more than sixty-four miles per hour, which is by no means slow for "Flivvers" on a level dirt track.

Drives His First Race

Sharing in the local honors for the day was Harland Durand, brother of Winfield's mechanician, who got in the money by winning sixth place from a field of seventeen starters. Driving the first race of his career he handled his machine in faultless manner, giving promise of developing

PROSPERITY!

According to the records of the building permit department and of the public service department, and the reports of merchants, realty firms and contractors, Glendale, in practically every line of business activity, verifies the report made Monday by John Perrin, Federal Reserve Agent to the Federal Reserve Board on the increasing prosperity in the twelfth district.

Building permits in Glendale totaled $454,470 at noon today, making $4,591,250 for the year. Last year the total for the month of November was $334,291, and for 1920 up to that date, $3,137,264. The month of December is expected to reach a higher total than this month, according to the opinion of the building permit department, as several large business buildings and dwellings are being planned.

The increase in light and water service also emphasizes the record-breaking growth of Glendale. During the month of October 145 water meters were installed and 180 light meters. The month of November, says J. F. McIntyre, commercial agent for the public service department, will show an increase as great, if not more.

On July 1, 1920, there were 4,268 water meters and 4,771 light meters installed in the city; on October 31, 1921, a period of fifteen months, the records showed a gain of 503 in water meters and 849 in light meters.

SECOND ANNUAL CAT SHOW BRINGS OUT PRIZE WINNERS

Awards Are Made and Honors Fall Upon Number; Funds to Aid War Veterans

Ninety tabbies entered in the second annual cat show now being held under the auspices of the Glendale Cat club in the former Knights of Pythias hall at 138-140 North Brand boulevard for the benefit of the disabled veterans of the world war, are being admired by a large number of cat fanciers in this section of the state.

Cats of every color, size and age are lounging among silken pillows and catnip bags, the aristocrats of the tribe being fed on so much hamburger and milk it would probably be safe for a mouse to occupy the same quarters.

The show will end tonight at 10 o'clock, by which time it is thought a good sum will be realized from the admission fee to be given to the cause of relieving the disabled veterans of the war.

NEW TERRITORY IS ANNEXED TO CITY BY 45 TO 32

Strip Between Glendale and Burbank Secured; Industry Sites Within District

By a vote of 45 to 32 the strip of county territory lying between Burbank and Glendale annexed itself to this city at an election yesterday.

The thirteen votes were sufficient majority to give Glendale the belief that the preference over Burbank justified the work which was done by a Chamber of Commerce committee headed by J. R. Grey.

Owners of real estate in the strip are particularly pleased because it will permit the opening of new Glendale subdivisions, two of which already have been widely advertised as Fairview and Beautiful Mountainview tracts.

Included in this district is the home of Robert L. Colburn, secretary of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce and other prominent Burbank business people.

Get Inner Tube Plant

The U. S. Compression Inner Tube plant will now be a part of this city as well as several other factory sites. But best of all is the fact that the people of the district realized the necessity of joining one of the two municipalities.

Hamlin & Hepburn, subdividers of Fairview tract, were active in swinging the election in Glendale's favor, having sold out a unit between October 1 and 29 in which nineteen registered voters were made residents of the district. All of them voted for annexing to this city, it is believed.

Here's New Territory

Following is a description of territory:

From the Southern Pacific railroad right-of-way, northeasterly and northwesterly along the Burbank city line to approximately 400 feet from Alameda street on San Fernando Road; then north to the Pacific Electric right-of-way; and northwesterly to the Burbank boundary again; following that line to 200 feet north of Mountain street; thence easterly parallel with Mountain street to the west line of block 124 of Rancho Providencia and Scott tract; south along the west line of that track to a center line of Mountain street; thence easterly to the present city limits of Glendale.

In other words, it takes in all of that territory between Burbank and Glendale except about two blocks including the Moreland Truck company office and the Burbank Milling company; and the lines stop short at L. C. Brand's estate.

District C. E. Union in Executive Session

The Glendale District C. E. Union had its regular monthly executive meeting last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stoler, 339 West Colorado avenue, and preliminary plans were discussed for the boosters' banquet in the Presbyterian church February 17 at the end of the Four Square contest.

Miss Carol Duncan presided and the devotionals were led by Mrs. C. C. Stoler. After a business session, refreshments were served and a jolly time was enjoyed at the piano.

The following guests were present: Miss Marjorie F. Smith, Miss Margaret Overton, Miss Marjorie Yarick, Miss Frances Musser, Miss Olive Rapp, Miss Nancy St. Claire, Miss Mary Stanley, Walter Sullivan, Cyrus Galley, Gay B. Mise, Leslie Bennett, and James D. Thompson.

Robert Shuler, known as "Fighting Bob," pastor of the First Methodist church, South, of Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker on the program at the banquet to be served at 6:30 o'clock next Friday night at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church for the men and boys of the Sunday school and community of that church.

After the banquet Rev. Shuler will deliver another address in the auditorium of the church at 8 o'clock at which time an invitation is extended to all, Rev. Preston announces.

Southern Glendale to Discuss School Bonds

It is expected that several matters of importance will be taken up at the meeting of the Southern Glendale Improvement Club, of which Stuart Street is president, and which will be held tomorrow night, in the branch library building on South Brand boulevard. The matter of the high school site and bonds will probably be taken up by speakers representing the two sites in question. The matter of a municipal Christmas tree for the southern section of the city will also be discussed.

PROHIBITION PARTY STICKS

CHICAGO, Nov. 30—The National prohibition party will continue as a separate and distinct national organization. It will enter anti-alcholic candidates in every campaign, city, state and national. These decisions were announced in a lengthy resolution drawn by the executive committee at the prohibition national conference here. The resolution attacked the present administration which has been assailed by speakers at the conference for failure to declare its attitude toward prohibition enforcement.

"Open ridicule and condemnation of the eighteenth amendment by many officers whose sworn duty it is to enforce the law," was deplored as tending to make the act non-effective. The resolution further asked the impeachment of all officials who fail to enforce the Volstead act.

Population Predictions
Expansion Only Started
Real Estate a Profession
Standardizing Business

By Gil A. Cowan

"THERE is no reason why the population of Glendale should not be 100,000 to 150,000 in our generation—the fourth or fifth city in population in the state."

This was the pleasing conclusion of a speech by Glenn D. Willaman, secretary of the California Real Estate Association who appeared before the local Realty Board yesterday.

"You must be preparing," he warned, "if you are to house the hosts who are to come to southern California."

Indeed, these statements did not come from a person who was overly-enthusiastic, for Mr. Willaman resides in Oakland and personally holds there is a great future for his home city. But he watches the trend of events as closely as anyone in the state and what he says is worthy of deepest consideration.

After the luncheon meeting at which he spoke, E. P. Hayward secretary of the local board, took the visitor around the city and showed him the northwest section. Looking back over Glendale from Burbank's city limits Mr. Willaman could not help but remark on the possibilities presented here for city building.

Motor out along San Fernando road when you get time and see the wonderful tract of land annexed yesterday by a comfortable majority. It is most of the county territory lying between Burbank and Glendale. There is a section made up of beautiful homesites and factory land.

While the idea is not contemplated at present, there will be a day when Glendale's city limits will extend on the northeast so as to include Montrose and La Crescenta, perhaps. Were these little communities today a part of "America's fastest growing city," the population would be doubled.

Indicative of the residential growth of California, it was the statement of State Commissioner Edwin T. Keiser at the Realty Board luncheon yesterday that 80 per cent of the licensed dealers and salesmen are conducting their business here in southern California.

"I presume there is a proportionately larger number of transactions. I know that a larger part of my time is taken up in southern California, although I have three offices."

However, the message which every real estate dealer should hear from the commissioner is an age old story—it is the duty of everyone to lift his own business.

Real estate is a profession, it is being taught in the universities, it has its code of ethics and it is heartiiy denied that anyone can be a successful real estate dealer.

In this connection it might be well to speak of the purposes of a Realty Board. One is to curb the activity of the "curbstoner." A better reason is to sell the buyer what is wanted with a knowledge as to what it is wanted for.

The most important work, however, is the standardization of the business.

In the latter is seen the hope of limiting speculation, promoting good feeling and keeping profits at par.

Hugo Stinnes Reports on Visit to London

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—Hugo Stinnes, German industrial magnate and banker, who recently visited London, urged upon Premier Lloyd George the necessity of reconstructing Russia as one of the chief means of rehabilitating Germany and the rest of Europe, he revealed. After remaining silent since his return from London, answering all questions with a smile and a shrug of the shoulders, Herr Stinnes made a speech before the Association of German Industrialists, giving a report of his London trip.

"The reconstruction of Russia with outside assistance was emphatically suggested," said Herr Stinnes. "European recovery depends to a large extent upon Russia.

"Germany does not possess any raw materials, but England and America have them in abundance.

"The allies, therefore, must manufacture one-half of European wares, which would be completed in German factories. This would help Germany pay her indemnity.

"German railroads are in bad condition. They cannot bear the brunt of such heavy traffic as would be put upon them if Russia were opened up. They must be reorganized and taken over from the government into private hands.

"It is of prime importance that haste be made in extending the needed assistance."

The German government considers the rail question as one of utmost importance. It has begun to develop into a political issue, with the socialists opposing relinquishment of the lines by the government.

At the same time that Herr Stinnes was conferring with British officials in London, the government was considering the appointment of a commission of industrialists and bankers who will attempt to secure credits for Germany in England and the United States.

into a real star with a little more experience.

At the wheel of a makeshift speedster, which had been put together at a few days' notice, Durand was accompanied with more hard luck than any of the six place winners. While keeping pace with the leaders in the eighth lap his engine "froze up" on one of the turns, keeping him out over four laps before the motor could be turned over.

The race, which was conducted under the auspices of the Kern County Fair association, was, without a doubt, the best attended and most exciting similar event of the year in California amateur racing circles.

Ford Race Is Success

Although more or less wary over the probable success of an "All Ford" contest, the management followed the suggestion of a number of requests, with the result that the tin Lizzies furnished more enthusiasm and interest than has been evidenced at any of the larger car events.

A number of racing's real stars were present at the affair, among them being Earl Cooper, who acted as referee, and Paul Derkhum, whose job for the day was that of starter.

Plans are already being formulated for the staging of another similar race on the same track on Washington's birthday.

BRIAND CHALLENGES POWERS TO MEET FRENCH ACTION

Cut Navies Like We Have Reduces Army, Is Final Statement of Premier

By CHARLES M. ELISH
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Pacing up and down his hotel room like a caged lion, Premier Briand of France in his final statement to the American people, dictated to a correspondent of the International News Service, a challenge to the powers of the world, to reduce their navies in proportion to France's announced army reduction, sharply rebuked foreign Minister Lord Curzon of Great Britain for his assault on France's policy toward Germany, and again told why France must maintain a large army.

After bidding other newspapermen good-bye, the French Premier, who sailed at noon Friday aboard the Liner Paris, called in the International News Service correspondent, and said:

"France, which has sixty million subjects in her colonies, whose coasts are on three seas, which consequently needs a navy, has seen her fleet of capital ships reduced by the effects of the war from three squadrons to a single squadron. She is prepared on this ground to realize an accord with her friends and allies for the same proportional reduction.

Says Army Reduced.

"As regards disarmament, France will have gone as far along this road as any other country, without exception. In effect, on land, in spite of the dangers which she undergoes, she has already spontaneously reduced her 'metropolitan' army by a third. In spite of the law which keeps three classes with the colors, actually there are only two. Furthermore, the government has introduced a bill into parliament which reduces the period of service by half. As a consequence the number of effectives in the army is in the same proportion.

"It is much more than the other nations will do as regards navies, since the naval reductions envisaged do not exceed forty per cent.

"Consequently," the French Premier said, "the sum total of her forces of national defense—land army and sea army—it can be said that France will have made an effort at reduction superior to that of any other nation and the merit will be greater because she is in inevitable danger. British friends ought to realize the fact that the German fleet is at the bottom of the sea and consequently it is no longer a menace either for England or for us. But the seven million men of the German armies are still there, very much alive and available. It is a fact that France must realize and consider."

No Reply to Curzon

Premier Briand said he did not wish to reply to Lord Curzon's speech because he had not seen the text.

"I do not quite see, however," he said, "what interest there can be for friends and allies to argue with one another in the very moment when they are trying at Washington to assure the peace of the world. It is primarily between them that peace ought to exist. I shall pin my faith on the words of Mr. Balfour, pronounced at the last public session of the conference, when he solemnly recognized, as did all the other delegates, that the situation of France in Europe was exceptional and that she had need to take precautions for her safety."

He said he had viewed with satisfaction that it had been sufficient for him "to lovally explain the situation to the American people in order to be understood by the whole world, which permits me to leave for France with a tranquil spirit and a peaceful heart."

In his stateroom aboard the Paris, when asked if France would stick to her present policies at the Washington conference, Premier Briand replied:

"If she does not then I won't be at the head of the government."

Asked how long he thought the Washington conference would last, he said:

Conference Gives Results

"Not longer than a month if the conference wishes only to go on record regarding important matters, but that if it wishes to work out the details that would require a longer time and would have to be left to experts."

Premier Briand said he considered the Washington conference "a great success for your country which had given the initiative."

"The conference already has given results; it will give more," he predicted. "The public discussion has made a great impression upon the public minds throughout the world. A general atmosphere of peace has been created and that is the best preparation for world peace."

Gratified by his reception in America and much impressed by President Harding and Secretary Hughes, Premier Briand said:

"My recollection of Mr. Hughes will be one of the most delightful of my life."

Tuesday Club's Music Section Meets Dec. 9

The music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Charles L. Marlenee is curator, will meet at the home of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, 415 South Central avenue, December 9. Mrs. Montgomery has arranged to have Miss Grace Lauster, harpist, give the program for the afternoon.

Miss Lauster, now of Long Beach, was formerly from Ionia, Mich., the former home city of Mr. Montgomery. Miss Lauster, who is a student at Polytechnic high school at Long Beach, recently played before the Lyric club of that city. She bids fair to become a harpist of note, according to L. E. SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR GLENDALE'S FLOAT ARE NECESSARY

C. of C. Directors Decide Popular Funds Should Be Sought for Display

That the money for the Glendale float in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena on New Year's Day be raised by popular subscription, if possible, was the action taken at the directors' meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon.

The matter of raising funds for the float involved considerable discussion and after many suggestions were made it was decided that popular subscription offered the best method and the matter will be presented to the various patriotic, civic and fraternal organizations of the city.

In addition to the regular committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to have charge of the arrangements for the float, it was decided to name E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, to work with the group.

First in New Home

The hour of the first meeting for the directors of the Chamber of Commerce in the new headquarters on the second floor of the Citizens' building, 150 South Brand boulevard was set for 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at which time the installation of the new board of directors for the ensuing year will be considered.

A report of the Anti-Annexation league meeting held at Sawtelle last Friday was given by Assistant Secretary E. F. Sanders, who stated that the meeting was very enthusiastic and that the general sentiment was it would be unwise for Sawtelle to become annexed to Los Angeles.

The matter of the annual meeting of the Southwest League at Riverside, December 8, 9 and 10 was considered and it was decided that Secretary James M. Rhoades should place an order for passes and that as many as possible of the board make an effort to attend the meeting.

Communications Read

A communication from the city council was read saying that the phenomenal growth of Glendale necessitated such expenditures that it would not, at present, be possible to install a gate at the Southern Pacific railroad crossing on South Brand boulevard.

Another communication from F. S. McGinnis, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific railroad, was read relative to through passenger service between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The communication stated that at the time of the next change in the time card favorable consideration, if possible, would be given the suggestions made.

The list of ten persons submitted for membership, which appeared in Tuesday's issue of The Glendale Evening News, was elected to membership.

All Sorts of Folk Appearing on Screen; Lots of Laughs From Boys' Contest

The Glendale banker and the Glendale realtor can now exchange words similar to the effect:

"Well, have you seen me on the screen?" "How do you like me in the movies?"

Likewise the merchant and shopkeeper, public, city, fire and police members, factory manager, and, in fact, just about everyone in town—not forgetting of course, the women and girls.

Many See Themselves

It's a happy occasion at the T. D. & L. theatre where the local movies are being shown today, and if indications and sentiments expressed are not amiss it's going to be hard to "get in" on the showing.

Manager Ralph Allan promises some real laughs when the boys' Charlie Chaplin contest pictures are seen and, of course, about every youngster in town either did or wanted to take a hand at imitating the famous comedian.

In addition to the local "movies" the Cosmopolitan production, "Enchantment" with Marion Davies, together with a special comedy and a news weekly, are given.

Some Stars of Rival Cadets and Middies

By JACK VEIOCK
Written for International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Inter-sectional games were bright features of the 1921 football season.

The sport-loving public supported these games in a manner that left no doubt as to their popularity and critics are agreed today that the bringing together of teams of widely scattered sections has done much for the game.

Nearly a dozen contests of this character that drew unexpected attendance were played in the east and the business managers of eastern elevens are already planning next year's schedules with some inter-sectional contests in view.

The establishment of home-and-home relations between Princeton and Chicago was a wise move for both schools and it may lead to other inter-sectional agreements.

Notre Dame will come east again next year to play the army as usual, but Coach Rockne's eleven probably will be seen in action against another big eastern team. The South Benders would like to get on Yale's schedule and there is not the shadow of a doubt but that such a game would prove a knockout from a standpoint of public interest and attendance.

Yale has scheduled the army for 1922, the game to be played in the Bowl, October 28. There is plenty of room on the Bulldog schedule for a team like Noter Dame, however, and Yale might find it to her benefit to schedule stronger teams than she has played during the last three seasons prior to her big three engagements.

Harvard will play Centre college again next year. Centre's defeat of the Crimson insured the Praying Colonels a place on the 1922 schedule. The Crimson will probably schedule another game with Western conference eleven.

Georgia Tech and Penn State will very likely be seen on the Polo Grounds next season. This game is being talked, but nothing definite will be done probably until after the Nittany Lions return from Seattle, where they meet Washington U. next Saturday.

FIGHTING COLONELS WILL MEET COAST FOOTBALL TEAM

Contest Will Take Place at San Diego; Opponents Are Not Yet Decided Upon

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 30.—The "fighting colonels" of Center college, conquerors of Harvard and other big gridiron elevens of the east, will meet a Pacific coast team in the San Diego stadium on December 24 or 26 for the East vs. West championship. President Gould of the Chamber of Commerce announced he was in receipt of telegraphic assurance from Dr. Frank Rainey, chairman of the faculty athletic committee of the Kentucky college, that the latter's squad of twenty-two players, in addition to coaches and attendants, will leave Danville December 14.

Selection of the coast team that will represent the west is under consideration and announcement will be made not later than Saturday, Mr. Gould said. The records of the various available coast teams are being closely scrutinized.

Coast Team Is Sought

Mr. Gould and associates will witness the game Saturday at Pasadena between Washington state and the University of Southern California. These two teams, together with the Leland Stanford and Oregon Aggie elevens, appear to be in general favor, but Mr. Gould would not commit himself by indicating a tentative preference.

The Colonels will make a leisurely westward trip, stopping at Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and possibly other cities to play practice games, Mr. Gould said.

The rest periods and practice games en route will insure an eleven enjoying tip top physical condition when they line up for the kick off in the stadium. The present itinerary brings them to San Diego December 21, allowing a final limbering up period of five days before the big contest.

If he ever paused to think, the man with his nose to the grindstone will usually find that he is turning his own grindstone.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—With the talk persisting regarding a return match between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey, one frequently hears followers of the ring suggest that Willard would be playing more fairly with his public if he would get into the ring with some other boxer before hooking up with the world's champion. The truth is, there is very little enthusiasm on the part of the public here for a Willard-Dempsey match. On the contrary, when the subject is broached it leaves all hands quite cold toward the proposition.

As a matter of fact, it would seem only right that Willard should give the public some idea of his fitness again to contend for the title. It would not matter very much who he took on, but certainly if he could not make a creditable showing in a trial bout, it would be ridiculous for him to aspire to anything higher.

Just why Tex Rickard has the Willard-Dempsey bee in his head again is something that puzzles the man on the outside. There are lots of folks who will tell you that Rickard simply would be in line to meet a heavy loss if he promoted such an event. "They never come back," is what they say, "not even the great natural fighters, so how could a man who never was a born fighter turn the trick?" Willard is older than he was when he played so dismal a part, and he hasn't done a thing in the boxing line since he was toppled over in a few minutes at Toledo.

"There isn't any other possible match in sight," some say, "and something for a little fun is better than nothing." Just how much those who reason thus would pay to see such a bout, of course, doth not appear. Certainly they would not pay the fancy prices which would justify Rickard going to any unusual expense to stage the affair.

When a man like Willard commences to talk about being able to get into shape in a period which goes over six months, the man who is conversant with the physical angle of an athlete is prone to smile cynically. When the average athlete gets to a stage in his career that it takes him six months to get into form, he might as well say a year or six years, for all the credit he will get as to his ability to turn the trick of conditioning himself. Nine out of ten trainers will tell you it can't be done.

The woods are full of keen boxing critics who will tell you that Jack Dempsey has gone over the top and is on the further slope and that he never will be as good again as he was when he won the championship. If this is so, and there is no reason to suppose anything to the contrary, just consider what an almighty start Willard has on the champion. And Willard is a man who hates to train and finds not the slightest particular pleasure in a fight simply for the fight's sake, while Dempsey takes a keen enjoyment in slamming around with the mitts on his hands.

Luscious Tomato Proves Garden King in 1919

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The juicy tomato was America's favorite vegetable in 1919, according to statistics made public recently by the Census Bureau of the Department of Commerce. The output of tomatoes constituted 21.14 per cent of all vegetables produced in 1919, and it required 316,399 acres to supply the demand of the American public for this appetizing side dish. Maryland led all states in the production of tomatoes in 1919, with a total of 58,083 acres; New Jersey was second with 36,986 acres, and California third with 31,410 acres.

Second to tomatoes in popularity was sweet corn, with a total acreage of 271,584, constituting 18.4 per cent of all vegetables produced in 1919 in this country. Again Maryland led the field with an acreage of 34,788. New York was second with 28,965 acres and Iowa third with 28,595 acres.

The watermelon, ever popular with those who eat for a pastime, ranked third in production in 1919, with a total acreage of 162,064, constituting 11 per cent of the total vegetable output of that year. Georgia was the main source of supply of watermelons, with an acreage of 29,091, and Texas was the runner-up with 22,564 acres.

PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The California Bears, the Tornado Bears, the wonder team, or whatever else writers have christened the University of California football team, is once more the Pacific cooast football champions. There is no questioning the place won by Andy Smith's football team. The title has been won clean and clear without a defect.

The victory of California over Stanford recently was the culmination of one of the greatest seasons California had ever known. At that time the team did not show as well as in other games this season or last, but that is undoubtedly due to the footing of the new field at Stanford on which the game was played. On California field for example, where the footing is perfect and there is no give when a man gets under full speed, "Brodie" Stephens has made a record for himself in getting down the field under punts and downing the man taking the kick. He has done that same thing this season in the Pacific northwest on a strange field, but the heavy and loose footing prevented his getting closed than ten yards to the man taking the punt against Stanford, clearly showing the field slowed up the men.

Stanford played probably the best game it has showed this year, but the team was outclassed by California. Their line, at times, many times, on defense was palpably weak and on offense they were, generally speaking, weaker. The team was lacking in many elements and as a consequence "out classed" is the only way they can be classified.

We have seen crowds before in our twenty-five years of covering sports events, but for "pep" and color the 55,000 fans at the game outclassed any other crowd. It is the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a football game, or any other sport, on this coast. We have seen 121,000 at a football game in England (which record has since been broken), we have been part of a crowd of 45,000 people at the great Inter-Allied opening day games at Paris in 1919, we know of the 90,000 who attended the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, we have been part of a 52,000 crowd in Australian football, we have seen Yale-Harvard play to capacity and we have seen every crowd that attended the California-Stanford games from 1905 to date, but never have we witnessed the color and enthusiasm that prevailed last week when the new Stanford stadium was dedicated.

The English and Australian crowds are usually sombre and staid. They applaud with handclapping and an occasional outburst of cheering. The American crowds are different. They take their game seriously but they are brimful of enthusiasm and they give vent to their enthusiasm with the full force of their lungs. Handclapping is not the American method of giving vent to a crowd's feelings, at least at a football game. No where in the world is a crowd so demonstrative, full of good natured chaff and so full of colorful beauty as at a football game in the U. S. A. and the California-Stanford game with its vast crowds, was just a typical example of this. Enthusiasm and bleacher stunts by the student bodies, is, however, brought to a higher keynote in Pacific coast college crowds than in any other section of the country. More than five thousand students formed the California rooting section and the living pictures of the Campanilie of Berkeley and other stunts were features that cannot be duplicated anywhere in the country.

$10 AND OVER CLUB HELPS SALVATION ARMY CAMPAIGN

Many Members Placed Upon Rolls; Much Good Work Being Accomplished

This is the big week of the Salvation Army drive in this vicinity according to Envoy Fred Giles, who stated yesterday that the campaign had not been pushed for the last couple of weeks in order not to conflict with the Red Cross Roll Call, with which the Salvation Army is in hearty sympathy.

Denying a suggestion that the Salvation Army would not help men without families and discussing "professional moochers," Mr. Giles remarked:

"We have found that the most worthy cases are those who do not disclose themselves and do not come to you personally. The Army worker has to go and find out about them. We have some departments that have their workers given exclusively to 'ferreting' out such cases. There are 'ferreters and ferreters.' Some people are obsessed with a desire to do something good in the world and they search out the needy, but they make them feel their condition.

Army Uses Right Methods

"The Army method is always to leave with the needy the highest admiration. They do not feel that they have lost their manhood or womanhood in the least degree because the Army has been investigating their condition. This is due to our man to man and heart to heart methods. The idea is that we make needy people feel that they are men and women even although they have been tripped up on life's highway and that the sun is going to shine again.

"High as is the conception of the public for the Salvation Army as a social worker the mere doling out of dollars to the needy is the remotest conception in the minds of the Salvation Army workers. They are looking forward to elevating them and the awakening of righteous principles in the people whom they are assisting."

Even Sign Is Changed

To explain the attitude of the Salvation Army towards unfortunates, Mr. Giles said that it had been necessary to change the wording of a new sign at the entrance of the institution's summer home at Redondo, which entertains 800 women and children each summer, from "The Salvation Army Home for 'Poor' Mothers" to "The Salvation Army Home for 'Tired' Mothers." It was felt that the women would not enjoy themselves if they had to stare continually at a sign reminding them of their poverty.

Charles H. Toll, 1635 Kenneth Road, gave $500 to the Salvation Army before the campaign started. Pledges and checks are being received by R. F. Kitterman at the First National bank and D. H. Smith at the Los Angeles Trust & Savings bank.

WATCH COLDS, SAYS DR. J. E. ECKLES, HEALTH OFFICER

Children With Sore Throats Will Be Sent Home From School, Is Announced

Have you had your cold yet?

"I suppose there must be about a thousand colds here now," remarked Dr. J. E. Eckles, city health officer, yesterday. "The population here is about 20,000, isn't it? Nearly every body is sniffling or just getting over a cold."

To send children with sore throats home from school was the request made of Superintendent Richardson D. White by Dr. Eckles yesterday morning. A representative of the health department will call at their homes to take a throat culture.

"There is a diphtheria epidemic around," declared Dr. Eckles. "Just recently several cases have developed here—not a lot, but several. Taking a culture means only about twenty-four hours' delay. Also sore throat is one of the first symptoms of scarlet fever. There are only a few cases here and we don't want any more. The state board of health has recommended that conditions be watched very earnestly.

No Flu Is Reported

"I do not know of any 'flu.' None has been reported and there is little in the state. I don't think that influenza would be noticeable if it did show itself.

"Colds seem to be about as prominent now as they were a week ago. They are more like the old type of cold in the middle west. They hit you hard and let go fairly easy. What a person with a cold should do depends on the individual. It is hard to prescribe a remedy for everybody. Usually the best thing to do is to see the family physician and have him prescribe something for individual needs. What would help one would not help another.

"A simple cold may be accompanied by just a simple irritation of the throat but not a real sore throat. In case of a marked sore throat it is well to regard it with a little bit of suspicion, especially in the case of a child. The throat should be inspected and if there are any white patches a culture should be taken at once."

$100 Monthly Paid to Hunters of Cats

VICTORIA, B. C.—The British Columbia Game Conservation board has inaugurated a campaign against cougars on Vancouver Island. It has offered hunters $100 a month salary and a bounty of $40 and $55 an animal. If under these conditions a hunter killed a cougar a day his monthly income would be between $1500 and $1800. In addition, the hunter will own the cougar's pelts, which are worth from $10 to $12 at market prices. Bounties differ according to districts. The bounty is $55 in sheep areas and $40 in regions in which no sheep are raised.

When Sir James Douglas, of the Hudson's Bay company, in 1842 built a fort on Camosun Harbor, the site of the present city of Victoria, the island was infested with cougars, which in other parts of the continent are known as panthers, pumas and mountain lions. Then British Columbia was part of the Hudson Bay company's empire, the last vestiges of which are fast disappearing, as the company is selling out its remaining lands in the prairie provinces to farm settlers.

War was declared upon the big cats in pioneer times and they were almost exterminated. In recent years they have increased alarmingly and now are a menace to remote farms. The slaughter by cougars of pigs, calves and sheep cuts a serious figure in a farmer's profits.

The present campaign, it is believed, will wipe them out. The financial encouragements, it is said, are the largest ever offered in the history of North American wild animals. Not a cougar, it is expected, will be left alive on Vancouver Island in another year.

No New Maps Until Europe Gets Peaceful

NEW CASTLE, Pa.—The city school board here is not going to take any chances. The treaty of Versailles changed things in Europe a lot but until they decide to be peaceful over there and not kick over the diplomatic traces New Castle school kids will have to worry along with their old school maps.

A request for maps for the high school was turned down the other night by the school board. The board could not see where the European situation was settled enough to permit the buying of new European maps yet. They thought the students could get along with the old ones until the boundaries are finally settled.

A requisition for a dozen sets of scales to be used in taking the weight of pupils in the city schools was also turned down, along with a requisition for a victrola and records for the high school.

KEEPS LEE GENTLE BROKE

ATLANTA, Ga.—Lee Gentle, affectionately known as the "Babe Ruth of domestic tranquility," hung up a new record here when the family doctor announced "A boy," adding the twenty-seventh to his household. There are sixteen living out of the twenty-seven. Eight are at home and eight are scattered throughout the United States. The last is reported doing very well. He is strong and healthful.

Gentle, for many years a stockdealer at Inman Yards, is now the proprietor of a cafe. He says the school-book problem keeps him broke.

GLENDALE MUSIC CLUB Presents

ALICE GENTLE

FRIDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 2, 8:15

High School

The audience went mad, as only a San Francisco audience can. They have followed the ups and downs of Alice Gentle's career and it did their hearts good to see this woman, whom most of them, in Shakespeare's phrase, "vow they love," come so splendidly into her own.—San Francisco Examiner.

Miss Gentle is a Carmen worth going a long way to see, one that asks no odds of her predecessors, many though they are, and is not particularly imitative of any of them. She has her share and more of good looks, she has a real voice and she has brains and stage sense. Combining these in accurate proportions, she is able to create an illusion. In the card scene it was a great one, perhaps her finest moment of the evening.—Chicago Daily News, August 4, 1919 (Maurice Rosenfeld).

New York Evening Mail—Alice Gentle showed last evening in her first recital at Carnegie Hall that she possesses not only one of our best American voices, naturally beautiful and exceedingly well trained, but also a dramatic instinct and a fiery temperament. Miss Gentle is, in short, an artist through and through.

El Mundo, January 2, 1918—Alice Gentle, the celebrated soprano, triumphed equally as a great singer and as a great actress. She made a real Carmen without any exaggeration. In her Habanera duets and other musical numbers she was rapturously applanded. Her fame as one of the best Carmens we have heard is amply justified.

FAR EAST PROBLEM NOT YET MOVING TO SETTLEMENT

Only Fringe of Question Is Touched Upon, Statement From Correspondent

By H. WILSON HARRIS
Diplomatic Correspondent of The London Daily News
Copyright, 1921, International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—After a week given up, with the exception of the one plenary session, to private discussions, a feeling of general bewilderment seems to prevail in conference circles. Is the conference going well or slowing to a standstill? Is there going to be an early agreement on the navy? Will the far eastern problem turn out too hard a nut to crack? And is the Anglo-French controversy provoked by the Briand and Curzon speeches anything serious?

All these questions are being asked and ought to be answered. As to the naval discussions those who know most about them speak most hopefully. One expert said late last week that the progress was altogether beyond his expectations.

Although it was indicated at the state department that no plenary session would be held until there was something definite to report, there is every reason to believe such a session will be called for one day this week.

Naval agreement is well in sight. That is a question primarily, of course, of capital ships in regard to which there is no serious fear of differences between Japan on the one side and America and Great Britain on the other.

The other outstanding question is the French demand as to submarines. It seems likely that the claim to as many undersea boats as Great Britain or America possesses is likely to be put forward formally by M. Viviani, but M. Briand made it clear before he left that France was resolved not to be an obstacle to a naval agreement.

But the far east problem is not moving toward a settlement so quickly. Apart from the formation of certain rather vague principles, only the fringe of the problem has been touched.

And with the third week of the conference begun, the far east has never yet been discussed in public session.

Not Going Very Far

It is no doubt satisfactory to China to get rid of foreign postoffices and have the question of customs and extra territoriality reconsidered, but that is not going far toward removing the causes of disagreement between the powers on the Pacific.

If popular predictions are fulfilled and the conference gets no further than a mere statement of principles with their application postponed to some later date, it would have to be written down as very largely a failure. Personally, I do not believe that will happen. At any rate the question of the leased territories must be faced.

As for the Curzon-Briand controversy, it really affects the conference very little. Lord Curzon, indeed, was clearly quite as indignant about France's treaty with the Turks as about anything the French premier said at Washington.

Deaths and Funerals

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillie Alice Fisher, former resident at 396 Dryden street, who died in Los Angeles Monday, November 28, 1921, were held under the direction of Pulliam and Kiefer at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers.

Mrs. Fisher was born in Missouri May 9, 1869 and was 52 years of age. She is survived by a twin brother, Edward Cooper, and sister, Mrs. Hettie Hedges in the east, and a granddaughter, Miss Jean Craine of Hollywood.

MISS ALICE GENTLE SELECTS PROGRAM TO GIVE HERE

Musical Numbers Chosen for Recital to Be Held at High School Friday

The next event in the musical series given under the auspices of the Glendale Music Club, of which Mrs. Mattison B. Jones is president, will be a recital by Alice Gentle, mezzo soprano, at the high school auditorium Friday night, December 2, as previously announced in The Glendale Evening News.

Miss Gentle is well known and well liked among the musical people of the coast, and, although born in Illinois, was brought at an early age to California and still considers this state her home.

When Antonio Scotti brought his company to the coast it was Alice Gentle to whom he entrusted the roles of perhaps the most widely varying list of operas that ever a singer was called upon to do. Her success in each of these was astounding, critics and public acclaiming her as the best exponent of the several roles heard here in many a day.

As a recital artist she had endeared herself to all, displaying a voice of remarkable beauty and range and her concert here will be one of the high lights of the musical season. Frank Moss will accompany Miss Gentle at the piano.

Here's Friday's Program

The program for Friday night as planned includes the following numbers:

"Vissi d'Arte" (La Tosca), by Puccini; Old English Melodies, "Ah Willow," "A Pastoral," "When Dull Care;" "Plaisir D'Amour" (Martini), "L'Eslave" (Lalo), "L'Heure Exquise" (Poldowski), "Impression Basque" (Fourdrain); "From Out of My Great Sorrow" (Schumann), "Dedication" (Schumann), "Soft Footed Snow" (Lie), and "From Monte Pincio" (Grieg); "How's My Boy" (Homer), "Silhouettes" (Carpenter), and "Stars" (Ware).

Tickets for a very limited number of reserved seats are on sale at the Brunswick Shoppe, next to the Glendale Theatre. Seats will be held for those having membership cards until 8 o'clock, after which they will be sold to non-club members.

Miss Hazel Colton Is Owner of Hope Chest

The "hope chest" and the many beautiful hand-made articles it contained, on display last week in the window of the Glendale Music company, were awarded last night to Miss Hazel Colton of 111 South Central avenue, at the entertainment given by the Y. L. I. society, of which Mrs. Frank Salmacia is president, at the I. O. O. F. hall. The disposal of the chest was made by Miss Frances Worth, film star, in place of Miss Betty Compson, who was unable to be present.

The entertainment for the evening included a jig by Paul Shoaf and several bass solos by Ed Albright, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Thos. Smith. As an encore Mr. Albright chose a song written by Reed Heustis, "Brother Bill." Neal Sprinkle of Eagle Rock sang several popular selections. This was followed by a pianologue by Milton Berry, also of Eagle Rock, who sang "Second Hand Rose" as an encore. The evening's entertainment closed with the "hope chest" disposal by Miss Worth.

The Y. L. I. society cleared in the neighborhood of $800 from the sale of tickets on the chest. This money will be used to pay for the stained glass window purchased by that organization for the new Holy Family Catholic church.

Scout Council Is Given Promise of Support

Robert L. Colburn, secretary of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce, was in Glendale this morning and assured E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the local Chamber, that the sister city of the San Fernando valley would do its part in the organization of a First Class Scout Council composed of Eagle Rock, Glendale and Burbank troops. There are now four troops in Burbank.

Mr. Sanders is laying plans carefully for the financial drive the first of the year which will raise the $4,500 necessary for this purpose. There should be about ten troops working under the direction of a scout executive next year.

E. G. Shiffer, Late of Jefferson, Iowa, Building Home Here

Walter Staring, 1411 East California avenue, began work today on a four-room residence at 609 East Elk avenue for E. G. Shiffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Shiffer came here last January from Jefferson, Ia., and were so well impressed with Glendale they decided to reside here permanently. The dwelling will contain all modern built-in features and will be completed some time in January.

Walter Staring is another resident of Glendale who came here about a year ago from Jefferson, Ia., and found Glendale a home city that suited him.

JAPAN WILL YIELD BIG SHIP RATIO FIXED BY U. S.

Plans Battle Behind Which It Will Secure Concessions in Auxiliary Vessels

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—"Japan will make a stiff fight, but in the end she will yield."

This expression from a high ranking naval authority accurately reflected the opinion held by American officials and foreign diplomats that this, the third week of the armament conference, will see Japan's acceptance of the 5-5-3 capital ship ratio laid down in the American program.

It has been known for several days that the Japanese delegation here is under instructions from Tokio to hold out strongly for an increase in the ratio to 10-10-7. It is understood that Japan will formally lay such a proposition before the powers at the first meeting of the naval committee.

No Chance for Change

The absolute rejection of the Japanese proposal by the American authorities is assured. American experts feel that Japan has been treated liberally in the 5-5-3 ratio. They point out the three to five program was decided upon only after many experts had insisted that Japan's allowance of capital ships be placed at 50 per cent instead of 60 per cent.

The opinion is also held by some American officials that Japan secretly is rather pleased by the ratio of three to five and that she is making a fight on it with the idea that by seeming to yield reluctantly she may be able to get concessions further on in the conference, perhaps in the matter of auxiliary ships.

It can be stated authoritatively that British experts are one with the Americans in the capital ship ratio.

Big Ships Form Hub

While American officials deprecate any suggestion of a split in the confence, it can be stated authoritatively that the American delegation is willing to see the conference stand or fall on the issue of Japan's acceptance.

Until the capital ship issue is settled the experts are not concerning themselves with the objections raised by both Japan and England with regard to auxiliary ships such as submarines, light cruisers and airplane carriers. The big ships form the hub of the whole Hughes program and until an agreement is reached on these the experts are giving little thought to the other craft. One thing at a time is their motto.

It is not likely that the showdown will come until late in the week. The Japanese have received from Tokio a great quantity of technical and other data, which will first have to be laid before the experts of other powers for examination. This will take considerable time "and all to no purpose, too," said one American expert today.

May Set Open Session

It is considered probable today an open session of the conference will be arranged when Japan officially accepts the program. The belief prevails that the Japanese will ask an open session to announce their adherence to the American proposals and at the same time to give a public explanattion of the reasons for their protracted insistence upon a capital ship increase.

Unless there is such a session arranged, it seemed improbable today that there will be another plenary session soon.

Far eastern affairs are still in the committee stage and are likely to remain so for some time. Chinese postoffices and foreign courts are not subjects that lend themselves readily to discussions in which the public can get enthusiastically excited.

Would Retain the Mutsu

The Japanese may carry one feature of their substitute program to a point where it may possibly endanger the conference. This concerns the Mutsu, the latest of their great battleships which has been constructed under the eight-and-eight program. The delegatiton here is insistent that Japan be allowed to retain the Mutsu and in this direction have the solid backing of Japanese officialdom and public opinion. Members of the Japanese delegation assert there would be a great public outcry in Japan against the scrapping of this ship which is a source of great national pride.

American opinion is in favor of allowing the Mutsu going to the ash heap along with the West Virginia and other of the newer American dreadnaughts. The British attitude is uncertain. It may be possible, however, in the opinion of some American experts, for a compromise to be reached which, without altering the ratio of big ships in the Hughes program, will allow Japan to keep the Mutsu and the United States to retain some of her latest launched vessels.

Oklahoma Is Nearest Pure American State

M'ALESTER, Okla.—"Oklahoma ranks as one of the nearest purely American states," according to the report of Miss Daisy Moody, state chairman of Americanization, before the Oklahoma Federation of Women's club at their recent annual session here.

Miss Susie Meek, an Indian girl, addressed the women. She said she hoped the members would not consider the Indians as foreigners. She further declared that one-third of the Indians of the United States live in Oklahoma.

Hold Funeral Service for Mrs. Frackelton

Mrs. Alice E. Frackelton, Christian Science teacher and practitioner, daughter of Phillip W. Parker of 518 North Central avenue, Glendale, was buried yesterday at Hollywood cemetery.

Mrs. Frackelton, who was the wife of William B. Frackelton, principal of Second street school, Los Angeles, was electrocuted last Saturday evening at her residence, 900 South Bronson avenue, Los Angeles, by a defective electric light socket attached to a stove in the bathroom. Submerged in a tub of water the room becoming too warm she leaned from the tub and attempted to turn off the stove, causing instant death.

For more than twenty years Mrs. Frackelton had been actively interested in Christian Science and was one of the most ardent and successful workers in this field. She was for three years second reader of First Church of Christ, Scientist, and for more than fifteen years she had been a teacher of Mrs. Eddy's works.

Services following the Christian Science ritual were read at the chapel and also at the grave by one of her students, Theodore A. Chelson, several solos being sung by Mrs. Monnie L. Hastings.

The chapel was lined with floral offerings sent by relatives and friends. Besides her husband and father, Mrs. Frackelton leaves a daughter, Mrs. Lester L. Carden (Ruth Frackelton) of Santa Ana; a son, Harold Parker Frackelton of Pacoima; three grandchildren, Lester Carden, Jr., William Frackelton Carden and Dayton Parker Frackelton; four sisters, Mrs. Edward S. Ellis, Mrs. Louis Luc, Mr. Hugh Cornwell and Mrs. Clarence Coberly, and a brother, Arthur O. Parker, all of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Frackelton was 53 years of age.

The letter box was invented by Anthony Trollope, the novelist, who was a surveyor of the postoffice in England from 1841 to his retirement from the service in 1867.

Big Increase Among M. E. Churches, Claim

CHICAGO—The number of Methodist Episcopal churches with a membership of 1000 or more has doubled in the last six years, according to Rev. Oliver S. Baketel, editor of the Methodist Year Book. In 1915 there were 163 such churches in the United States, as compared with 232 at present.

Philadelphia leads the list with eleven. Columbus, Ohio, is next with nine. Detroit has eight and Baltimore five.

Rev. Baketel used the statistics up to the fall conferences of the denomination. According to conferences Northeastern Ohio has twenty-five churches with a membership in excess of 1000, West Ohio seventeen, Pittsburg eleven and West Virginia five.

Of the six largest churches, all over 2500 in membership, three are in the colored conferences. The largest is at East Cavalry, Philadelphia, colored, membership 4320.

DEFENSE OF POISON GAS IS PROMISED AT CONFERENCE

Most Effective Means Found to Protect Civilization, Is Argument Advanced

By HARRY L. ROGERS
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—Poison gas, denounced during the world war as a barbarous weapon, is to be defended in the armament conference on the ground that it affords the most efficient means yet devised of protecting civilization against possible menace of culturally inferior races, it was learned authoritatively.

When the sub-committee appointed by the conference to study the question of poison gas begins its hearings, experts of at least three delegations will present arguments against the suggested limitation of the use of gas against combatant forces in time of war. It will be pointed out that since scientific knowledge of the preparation and use of gas is the peculiar property of the most highly civilized races, it would be an invaluable weapon in dealing with so-called race perils, where a numerous and warlike, though culturally inferior people, might threaten western civilization.

Experiments in Secret

It will also be argued that because of the close affinity between certain necessary commercial industries and poison gas manufacture, limitation of the development of the science of chemical warfare is practically impossible, as experiments can be conducted in secret and industrial plants quickly converted in the event of war.

Great Britain, France and the United States are understood to favor the retention of gas as a weapon of warfare. American experts are particularly insistent that no limitation be placed upon the use of gas against combatant forces, as it is believed the United States enjoys a peculiarly advantageous position with respect to the development of the science of chemical warfare.

With the possible exception of Germany, the United States is the best equipped of all the nations, both in skilled chemists and in industrial plants capable of conversion to the manufacture of gas, it is stated.

Gathering nuts from the ground has been made easier by a Californian's invention of a device for the purpose.

PESSIMISM HOVERS OVER CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

Easy to Be Generous With Words, But Action Proves to Be Bit Different

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—For the first time since the statesmen of the world began their labors here about two weeks ago, a distinct atmosphere of pessimism hung over the Washington conference.

The first flush of enthusiasm and general optimism that followed the startling presentation of the American naval program has been dispelled by the controversial factors that have arisen as the powers got down to the hard tasks of translating words into action.

The pessimistic outlook is shared by many observers in Washington and by not a few of the delegates themselves.

A member of the American delegation summed up the situation privately to a friend:

"It is easy to be generous with words, but with action it is a horse of a different color."

Results of Two Weeks

Briefly, the results of the two weeks' efforts are these:

ARMAMENT—The powers have agreed in "principle" to the vast scrapping and future building program laid down by Secretary Hughes, but England and Japan are still quibbling over the details. Japan wants more gross tonnage than allowed by the American program; England wants more cruisers and the abolition of submarines.

It has been agreed that the conference will take no action with respect to limiting the standing armies of Europe.

FAR EASTERN AFFAIRS—All the powers have expressed sympathy with China's aims and have adopted four general principles to apply to China. They are so vaguely phrased that they are being interpreted differently by each of the powers.

A sub-committee of nine has been appointed to examine China's tariff schedule and it is virtually certain that she will be allowed to raise her duties from 5 per cent to 12½ per cent.

Naval Program to Stick

So far as the naval program is concerned, there is little pessimism. Ultimately, it is believed that the terms as laid down by Secretary of State Hughes will be accepted in substantially the same form as they now are. On this point the American attitude is adamant. The impression has been definitely conveyed to both Great Britain and Japan that the program proposed by America hits America harder than it does either Japan or Great Britain and that it is up to them to either accept it or reject it.

It is in the far east part of the conference that the deepest pessimism prevails. The Chinese delegates who came to Washington with high hopes of seeing their country liberated from the dominance of foreign interests are frankly discouraged. Already there is talk heard in Chinese quarters of the Washington conference being a repetition of Paris. Also there is talk heard of "going home."

Chinese Delegates Shocked

China has been getting a succession of shocks behind the closed doors of the Pan-American building. The first came when their ten principles were turned down as the result of British and Japanese opposition. They were partly mollified by the ready acceptance of the vague but promising four principles written by Elihu Root as a substitute for their "bill of rights."

Now the Chinese hopes are again being dashed against the rocks by the interpretations that British and Japanese spokesmen are putting on the Root proposals.

Official spokesmen for the British have openly declared that they interpret the Root proposals as "solidifying" and "safeguarding" the foreign interests in their spheres of influence and territorial rights, instead of doing away with them as the Chinese had hoped.

They Hope for Best

"What is the use of our staying here," asked one Chinese delegate, "if the wrongs of the past are to be confirmed instead of corrected?"

The Chinese are distinctly blue; they are hoping for the best and fearing the worst.

The question of tariffs has been disposed of for the moment by referring it to a sub-committee under the chairmanship of Oscar Underwood. Today it was planned to delve straight into the controversial matter of extra-territorial rights, under which foreign governments for years have maintained their own courts and police functions in China.

ROUTINE BUSINESS TRANSACTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Consideration Is Given to the Purchase of Lots; New Teacher at Doran

The board of trustees of the city school district last night at the Intermediate school held its regular bimonthly meeting.

Five hundred dollars was appropriated for the purchase of additional books for school purposes.

Superintendent Richardson D. White was authorized to obtain bids for about $100 worth of basketball apparatus and mid-winter athletic supplies.

Representatives of the firms of Allison & Allison and Jeffery & Shaeffer presented their qualifications as architects.

Dates for the Christmas holiday were set as December 21 to January 2, inclusive.

Superintendent White was authorized to offer Henry Henning, 203 East Elk avenue, his price of $7500 for the lot, 80 by 140, containing his six-room home.

C. H. Ratigan's price of $1240 for his lot, 40 by 150, near the Columbus school, was accepted. Bids of $1800 on four adjoining lots were tabled.

William Wood's price of $1600 for his property, 50 by 242, on East Park avenue west of Glendale, was accepted. An offer of a nearby lot of the same size was also accepted for $2000 from Mrs. Bessie McCammon. Negotiations for a connecting lot, owned by Mrs. Eulia Barber, are still in progress. Offers submitted on three lots on Acacia avenue were rejected on account of lack of funds. These are 50 by 150 and are held by Rev. O. P. Rider at $7500, F. L. Weisenheimer, $6500, and Frank S. Morgan, $6175. All six lots are immediately west of the Charles M. Turck property, between Park and Acacia avenues, and fronting on the west side of Glendale avenue, which will be the site of the new Intermediate school.

Additional Teacher

On account of crowded conditions at the Doran school, the employment of an additional teacher there beginning with the new term was authorized.

A petition requesting this action was presented by the following committee: Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Wintersgill, 411 North Louise street; Mrs. R. A. Hankey, 427 North Maryland avenue; Mrs. C. G. Putnam, 424 North Glendale avenue; Mrs. C. L. Blades, 1616 Del Valle avenue; Mrs. Ione E. Ringquist, 622 North Louise street; Mrs. John Baum, 734 North Brand boulevard; Mrs. W. E. McCormick, 539 North Jackson street; Mrs. A. C. Johnston, 338 North Jackson street; Mrs. O. C. Stanley, 1020 East Stocker street, and Mrs. C. R. Olson, 332 North Louise street.

ECONOMIC RUIN OF GERMANY SOUGHT, SAYS OFFICIAL

Head of Defense Ministry of Nation Asserts Propaganda Is Being Circulated

By S. D. WEYER
Written for International News Service

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—France has organized the military resources of Poland and Czecho-Slovakia and now has military missions touring the world to insure Germany's permanent economic ruin, according to Lieutenant Herman Von Giehrl, military head of the Ministry of Defense, in an exclusive interview with the International News Service today.

Von Giehrl is the brains of the Reichswehr, the body of troops which Premier Briand told the Washington Armament conference constitutes a menace to European peace. He speaks with authority and his statements may be taken as expressing the attitude of German officialdom.

Quotes Army Strength

"The peace strength of Czecho-Slovakia's army is 150,000 men, but today she has 50,000 extra. The same thing is true of little Belgium, which has a peace army of more than 100,000, while in 1914 she had only 60,000. In Czecho-Slovakia the supreme command, the general staff and the training schools, as well as all equipment, are French. At Prague, the general staff is establishing a military school with a French commander.

"Premier Briand reminded the Washington conference of Napoleonic times. It is doubtless fresh in the recollection of any student of history who at that time was the disturber of European peace—Napoleon I. A few generations previous it was King Louis XIV of France. The ruins of Heidelburg and other famous German castles bear mute witness to the cruelty, lust and devastation of French generals.

Gives Figures on France

"Germany is far from militarism; but militarism has enormously increased in France and among her continental allies. The treaty of Versailles says Germany must accept its military conditions primarily to enable general disarmament. What is the situation in France? In 1913 France had twenty-one army corps, today she has twenty-five.

"It is quite true that owing to the drop in the French birth rate a number of white battalions have been dissolved. But a greater number of colored divisions have been formed.

"Today there are seventy-seven military attaches in various countries, besides innumerable French military missions touring the world."

Swiss Invents Muffler for Airplane Engine

LONDON—M. Bergers, a Swiss, has invented a "muffler" to silence aeroplane eninges. He claims that his invention permits an instructor and student to talk freely when flying and allows the machine to go very low to make bombing raids.

The inventor states that the principle of his invention consists of a rapid cooling of the ejected burnt gases, resulting in a reduction of 50 per cent of the usual noises made by the exhaust.

GLENDALE OFFERING CALIFORNIA FIVE, UNIQUE FEATURE

Vocal, Instrumental, Dancing Novelty on Bill With 'Son of Wallingford'

What is advertised as an added attraction at the Glendale theatre tonight should prove the feature, it being the California Five in vocal, instrumental and dancing novelty of charm. Natalie Wood and Adele Kellogg will be seen in classical dances that are said to be astounding; Lucy Munjose, a pupil of Delaro, will be heard in dramatic soprano numbers; Gertrude Cosier is the violin soloist of the troupe while Mr. Wallis accompanies the number.

With all the big spectacular scenes "The Son of Wallingford," which will be shown tonight also, is a logical, human story and does not depend upon grandeur of production for its entertainment. There is as much real and human interest in a simple love scene between young Jimmy Wallingford and Mary Curtis as in the mammoth stagings of the pageant and lake of burning oil for which the production has become noted.

Spectacular Scene

The scenes in which Mary and Jimmy participafe as a couple in love are not all simple, however. One of their scenes is probably the most spectacular, and certainly, the most daring ever filmed.

They are shown on a lake, which unknown to them has been flooded with oil. This catches fire and the flames speed along the surface towards the unsuspecting couple. Escape seems absolutely impossible.

Another spectacular scene shows a manufacturing town built and destroyed in the twinkling of an eye. This illusion produced by J. Rufus Wallingford nearly causes his undoing. A terrific storm scene changes the plans of the lovable vagabond and his partner; but the resourceful pair turn adversity to profit and launch another scheme.

Dr. A. M. Duncan Is Kept Busy Saying 'No'

Dr. A. M. Duncan of 1607 South San Fernando Road suffered a severe shock yesterday which, he says, may take some of Dr. Henry R. Harrower's products to effect a complete restoration.

Sweet-voiced women have kept the venerable doctor's telephone ringing yesterday afternoon and this morning asking if he wished a housekeeper.

"In my excitement," he says, "I tried to figure out how so many all at once had discovered what a mature peach I was, or whether some wildcat investment had made me a millionaire. In the meantime the women of my establishment, who had become worried, found an advertisement in The Glendale Evening News giving my phone number."

Of course, it was a typographical error and the housekeeper has been hired by the other party.

Gymnasium Class for Women Steadily Grows

The largest class in women's gymnasium which has turned out since the class was organized three weeks ago, was present last night to engage in formal drill work, folk dancing, games and basket ball, under the direction of Miss Ada Brown. There were about forty present, and a great deal of enthusiasm was put into the work. The class is open to all the women in Glendale. It is now arranged that those who care for only one hour's work each Tuesday night may come from 7 until 8 o'clock or from 8 until 9 o'clock, while those caring for the two hours' work may remain over for both.
